Press Release

Isabelle Laurencin appointed as Fund Manager Triodos Organic Growth Fund

Zeist, The Netherlands, 12 November 2020 – Triodos Investment Management has appointed Isabelle Laurencin as Fund Manager of Triodos Organic Growth Fund.

Isabelle has been part of the fund's team as Principal Investment Manager since the beginning of 2019 and is a board member at five of the fund's portfolio companies. She has a track record of over 15 years in the financial industry and in private equity specifically. Prior to joining Triodos Investment Management she has held various positions as senior investment manager private equity, for example at FMO and Proparco.

Isabelle Laurencin on her appointment: "The momentum is building for the transition towards sustainable food systems. With its track-record and expertise, Triodos Organic Growth Fund is well equipped to support the European frontrunners in this rapidly evolving space. I'm excited to continue to contribute to this much-needed transition in my new role as Fund Manager of the fund."

Triodos Organic Growth Fund invests in the transition towards ecologically and socially resilient food and agriculture systems. It provides long-term mission-aligned private equity to leading privately owned European organic and sustainable food businesses that meet the increasing demand for sustainably produced food.

A procedure is currently in place to find a replacement for Isabelle's previous position within the team as Investment Manager.
